- NATHAN ATTEBERRY - MARIAH BUTLER OR MARTHA GEORGE

TOWNSHIP.

Austen, born September 18, 1832, in England. Her parents, James and Mary (Hill) Austen, were both natives of Old England. Five children, who are now living, have come to bless this happy union, viz.: Mary, born August 20, 1854, wife of William Head; Bell, born September 22, 1860, wife of H. F. Murphy; Bertha J., born January 1, 1866; Nicholas H., born July 4, 1868; and Zerilda, born June 22, 1872. Besides these Mr. Alexander and his estimable wife are rearing three little grandchildren, viz.: John B., James C. and Elizabeth J. Their father, James Alexander, died in October, 1881, and their mother, Martha A. (Trousdale) Alexander, died in November, 1881. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander are members of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church. He has held school offices, and been Township Supervisor. In political affairs, he is a Democrat.

NATHAN ATTEBERRY, farmer, P. O. Fairfield, was born August 10, 1803, in South Carolina. His father, Richard Atteberry, was born in South Carolina, where he farmed; he died in Grayson County, Ky. The mother of our subject was Rebecca (Bennet) Atteberry, born in South Carolina; she died in Kentucky. She was the mother of fourteen children, of whom our subject was next to the youngest, and is the only one living. He went to school in Kentucky, where he lived several years. In the fall of 1819, he came to Wayne County, Ill., where he has lived ever since. He came here when the woods were filled with wild beasts and the country was a wilderness. He came here with his older brother. It was in a time when the mustering day surpassed in grandeur our fair day; at least more bad whisky was stowed away, and more free fights indulged in. Here, on Turney's Prairie, he lived with an old gentleman, and the first winter went to school about three months. He finally bought forty acres at $1.25 per acre, and with a brave heart and hardened muscles went to work improving it. He at one time owned 300 acres of land, and now owns 128 acres, a part of which is the old homestead. Our subject has seen a great many changes, and has at least seen more than two generations rise and pass away. He was married twice. His first wife, Maria Butler, was a native of Kentucky, and died here in 1861, leaving eight children, of whom three are now living, viz.: Warren, David and Thomas. The latter is living in California. His present wife, Martha A. (George) Atteberry, is a daughter of William W. George, Esq., a prominent citizen of this county. This union was blessed with four children, viz.: Martha M., William W., Delbert B. and Oscar B. Mr. and Mrs. Atteberry are active members of the Missionary Baptist Church, and their standing in the community is the very best. Mr. Atteberry is a true type of our old pioneers, and quite strong in body and mind for a man of his age, he having seen eighty summers unfold their beauteous foliage. He is no politician, but is identified with the Democratic party.

Turney Taught School.

Isaiah Turney taught a school in this prairie in 1820, and about this time Washington Farris also taught a school there.

Mr. A. remembers attending a general muster and election in 1820, where the militia officers for the county were elected. It was held at the house of Washington Farris, just north of Fairfield. One of the Turneys was elected Captain, and Justice Beach was elected Commander; Vice, General Samuel Leech. Mr. Atteberry afterwards became a Captain and then a Major in the Militia, where he served two years. James Clark was made Brigadier General of the Militia.

Nathan Atteberry was a bound boy to old John Turney, and by the terms of the indenture was sent to school three months and this was the total of his facilities inthis line. His recollection is that George Close raised the first wheat ever grown in the county.

History Wayne Co. Ill
Q 15

Many of our readers know of the creek which crosses the Liberty road just beyond Nathan Atteberry's farm, four miles south of Fairfield. It is now perfectly dry nine months of the year. It will be astonishing information to many of the present generation that on this creek was built the first water mill ever in the county. Mr. Atteberry said that a dam across the creek furnished water power enough to run a small pair of corn stones two feet in diameter. A heavy rain would fill the dam and enable the miller to receive business. This mill was of great utility, saving the scattered settlers many a trip to New Haven. It was universally recognized as one of the most valued public enterprises of the day. Such being the case, the capacity of the mill will be an interesting fact to note. Each damful of water would grind six or eight bushels of corn! Only that and no more. Abe Chapman used to illustrate the speed of the mill by the relation of a little incident: One day the miller, John Carson, started the stones and went to his home a short distance off. His favorite hound pup went to the meal box and ate the meal as fast as it came from the buhrs. When the miller returned, the grist was finished but no meal was in the box. However, the improved appearance of the valued hound was soon noticed and fully explained the mystery.

Craig Wright is fifty seven years old; was born in and has always lived in Barnhill township.

John D. Simpson has been in Wayne county over fifty years, and remembers when Fairfield consisted of only two houses in a crab apple thicket.

John R. Carter, as long as he lived at home, never had five dollars worth of store clothing. The family made all their cloth of all kinds; tanned their own leather and made their own shoes. Mr. Carter never sported a pair of store shoes until grown.

Nathan Atteberry was born in South Carolina, August 10th, 1803, and in childhood was removed from there by his parents to Kentucky, where he remained until 1820, when he came to Wayne county, where he has remained ever since. He was first married in 1824 in this county. He is a hale and cheery old man, whose mind and body are strong, vigorous and active. His biography may be found in another part of this work. At the house of Mr. Atteberry, on the tenth day of last August (1883) was gathered some of the friends and old settlers to celebrate his eightieth birthday. Among the guests were the following:

Long In Public Life.

Mr. George was continuously in public life from the time he attained his majority until his death. During this time there was one short period of eighteen months, during which he held no office. Eliza Emmick, widow of Elder Benjamin S. Meeks, deceased, was born in Gallatin county, October 6, 1827.

Borahs In 1818.

George Borah came with his family to Wayne county in 1818. Nathan N. Borah, his son, like many of this old and large family, is one of the most estimable citizens of the county. George Borah's family consisted of children by three different wives, having married his first wife in Kentucky. There were, of the three sets of children, twenty in all. Nelson N. was a son of the first wife, and was two years and four days old when the family came to this county. He was born in Nelson county, Kentucky, September 6, 1818.

George Borah was one of the pioneer merchants of Wayne county, first opening a store in Burnt Prairie, within two miles of where the town of Liberty (Burnt Prairie) now is.

Nathan Atteberry came to Wayne county and settled in Turney's Prairie, in the fall of 1819. In the party were the two brothers of Atteberry, and their families. Their nearest neighbors were Reason Blessitt and his family of four children, George Close, William Watkins, Green Lee, Henry Coonrod, Michael Turney, Isaiah Turney, Thomas Turney and John Turney. These were all here when the Atteberrys came, and had been on the grounds the most of them long enough to have gone to keeping house in their rude cabins.

Turney Taught School.

Isaiah Turney taught a school in this prairie in 1820, and about this time Washington Farris also taught a school there.

Mr. A. remembers attending a general muster and election in 1820, where the militia officers for the county were elected. It was held at the house of Washington Farris, just north of Fairfield. One of the Turneys was elected Captain, and Justice Beach was elected Commander; Vice, General Samuel Leech. Mr. Atteberry afterwards became a Captain and then a Major in the Militia, where he served two years. James Clark was made Brigadier General of the Militia.

Nathan Atteberry was a bound boy to old John Turney, and by the terms of the indenture was sent to school three months and this was the total of his facilities inthis line. His recollection is that George Close raised the first wheat ever grown in the county.

W. W. George was born in South Carolina November 15, 1810. He removed to Kentucky about 1818; remained there until 1824, when he removed to Illinois and settled in Gallatin county. He removed from there to White county, where he lived until 1830. He then removed to Wayne county, where he has resided ever since. He was married in Hamilton county, Illinois, November 1, 1827 to Miss Mary Maberry. He united with the M. E. church in 1842, in which he lived for several years, and afterwards united with the First Presbyterian church of Fairfield, where he remained until his death September 16, 1883.

He was the father of six children, who arrived at man-or womanhood, five of whom, Mary Shaw, Martha Atteberry, Olive Way, Meshech George, and William W. George are still living, and one, Helen Hendershott, is dead. Only two of his children, Mary Shaw and Martha Atteberry, are living here.

He soon opened a store and also built a horse mill, each of which was about the first of its kind in the county. People came fifteen and twenty miles to his old mill on horse back, often camping to wait for their turn. The product of the mill was bolted by hand. D. W. Barkley, (founder of the Wayne County Press) a grandson, says he has both lively and painful recollections of assisting in this part of the business. At least he remembers it was not so agreeable as driving the horses and riding on the beam. Mr .Wright had his merchandise hauled from Shawneetown, Mt. Vernon, Indiana, and Evansville, and his produce was taken to Beach Bluff and Mill Shoals and shipped to New Orleans by flat-boat. This mostly consisted of vension hams, wild turkey, honey, deer, coon skins, etc., In those days, two-horse wagons, in which were to be seen teams in harness of which not a particle of iron was used—all home-made leather, shuck collars and hames cut from the root of a tree. When the family first came to the county, as did all others they pounded meal in a stump motar. The first meal from a mill was procured at Shawneetown, and until Mr. Wright's mill was put up, the nearest mill was at Carmi.

A Hardy Pioneer.

Mr. Wright was a fine specimen of the hardy, thrifty pioneer. His industry never flagged, and his energy was tireless—all of which were most admirable qualities in aiding and opening up and developing the new country. His other good qualities were only equaled by his widely known integrity, and a morality and uprightness that marked his whole life and drew around him an extended circle of warm friends.

His children were Thomas Curtis, Eliza Atkinson, (afterward Mrs. J. G. Barkley) David 5th, Sarah Ann (afterwards Mrs. Doctor R. L. Boggs), Charles William, now living three miles south of Fairfield (1884), on the place first improved by his father nearly sixty-five years ago.

David Wright, 4th, died March 14, 1865.

Andrew Crews came to Wayne county while Illinois was yet a territory, from Kentucky. Some years later, he was followed by his five sons, who are described as very tall, erect, strong and healthy men. They were farmers.

Mathew, the oldest of the five, had a family of thirteen children, eight of whom were the result of a second marriage. William was the oldest of the thirteen.

William had a family of six children who grew to maturity, one of whom died in the army. Joseph J. is the oldest of these. The father died in 1862, and the mother in 1877. Joseph was educated in the common school, and from delicate health was much his own teacher; taught nine years. He read law under Hon. James A. McCartney.

Was A Lawyer.

He was admitted in 1871, and has practiced in Fairfield since. He was married in Fairfield to Miss Eliza Shaeffer, daughter of Henry and Elizabeth Shaeffer. She was born in Tuscarawas county, Ohio, May 10th, 1855. They have four children—Lillian, Edith, Carl and Bertha.

was born in Georgia, September 12, 1812. She came to Wayne county in 1829.

Sarah Ann Files, widow of William Butler, deceased, was born in Kentucky, February 25, 1814; came to Illinois in childhood.

Eliza Emmick, widow of Elder Benjamin S. Meeks, deceased, was born in Gallatin county, October 6, 1827.

George Borah came with his family to Wayne county in 1818. Nathan N. Borah, his son, like many of this old and large family, is one of the most estimable citizens of the county. George Borah's family consisted of children by three different wives, having married his first wife in Kentucky. There were, of the three sets of children, twenty in all. Nelson N. was a son of the first wife, and was two years and four days old when the family came to this county. He was born in Nelson county, Kentucky, September 6, 1818.

George Borah was one of the pioneer merchants of Wayne county, first opening a store in Burnt Prairie, within two miles of where the town of Liberty (Burnt Prairie) now is.

Nathan Atteberry came to Wayne county and settled in Turney's Prairie, in the fall of 1819. In the party were the two brothers of Atteberry, and their families. Their nearest neighbors were Reason Blessitt and his family of four children, George Close, William Watkins, Green Lee, Henry Coonrod, Michael Turney, Isaiah Turney, Thomas Turney and John Turney. These were all here when the Atteberrys came, and had been on the grounds the most of them long enough to have gone to keeping house in their rude cabins.

Turney Taught School.

Isaiah Turney taught a school in this prairie in 1820, and about this time Washington Farris also taught a school there.

Mr. A. remembers attending a general muster and election in 1820, where the militia officers for the county were elected. It was held at the house of Washington Farris, just north of Fairfield. One of the Turneys was elected Captain, and Justice Beach was elected Commander; Vice, General Samuel Leech. Mr. Atteberry afterwards became a Captain and then a Major in the Militia, where he served two years. James Clark was made Brigadier General of the Militia.

Nathan Atteberry was a bound boy to old John Turney, and by the terms of the indenture was sent to school three months and this was the total of his facilities inthis line. His recollection is that George Close raised the first wheat ever grown in the county.

W. W. George was born in South Carolina November 15, 1810. He removed to Kentucky about 1818; remained there until 1824, when he removed to Illinois and settled in Gallatin county. He removed from there to White county, where he lived until 1830. He then removed to Wayne county, where he has resided ever ing to wait for their turn. The product of the mill was bolted by hand. D. David Wright, 4th, came from New Jersey to Wayne county in 1819, and settled and improved the farm three miles south of Fairfield. He started the first tan-yard in the county using a wooden trough, which in time he increased to fourteen vats, in which he did an extensive business for those days—tanning all kinds of hides, even hog skins. The old family bible now in the possession of Charles W. Wright, is covered with fawn skin tanned in his tannery. ARTICLE VII.

Craig Wright is fifty seven years old; was born in and has always lived in Barnhill township.

John D. Simpson has been in Wayne county over fifty years, and remembers when Fairfield consisted of only two houses in a crab apple thicket.

John R. Carter, as long as he lived at home, never had five dollars worth of store clothing. The family made all their cloth of all kinds; tanned their own leather and made their own shoes. Mr. Carter never sported a pair of store shoes until grown.

Nathan Atteberry was born in South Carolina, August 10th, 1803, and in childhood was removed from there by his parents to Kentucky, where he remained until 1820, when he came to Wayne county, where he has remained ever since. He was first married in 1824 in this county. He is a hale and cheery old man, whose mind and body are strong, vigorous and active. His biography may be found in another part of this work. At the house of Mr. Atteberry, on the tenth day of last August (1883) was gathered some of the friends and old settlers to celebrate his eightieth birthday. Among the guests were the following:

Eliza Emmick, widow of Elder Benjamin S. Meeks, deceased, was born in Gallatin county, October 6, 1827.

Borahs In 1818.

George Borah came with his family to Wayne county in 1818. Nathan N. Borah, his son, like many of this old and large family, is one of the most estimable citizens of the county. George Borah's family consisted of children by three different wives, having married his first wife in Kentucky. There were, of the three sets of children, twenty in all. Nelson N. was a son of the first wife, and was two years and four days old when the family came to this county. He was born in Nelson county, Kentucky, since. He was married in Hamilton county, Illinois, November 1, 1827 to Miss Mary Maberry. He united with the M. E. church in 1842, in which he lived for several years, and afterwards united with the First Presbyterian church of Fairfield, where he remained until his death September 16, 1883.

He was the father of six children, who arrived at man-or womanhood, five of whom, Mary Shaw, Martha Atteberry, Olive Way, Meshech George, and William W. George are still living, and one, Helen Hendershott, is dead. Only two of his children, Mary Shaw and Martha Atteberry, are living here.

Long In Public Life.

Mr. George was continuously in public life from the time he attained his majority until his death. During this time there was one short period of eighteen months, during which he held no office. He was elected a Justice of the Peace, before he attained the age of twenty-one, and his commission was delayed until he arrived at legal age. He held the office of Justice of the Peace, forty-five years; was county Judge for four years; school commissioner six years; was also drainage commissioner for Wayne county, and two years commissioner on River Improvements undertaken by the state.

His father, John George, was born in Ireland, and when a child came to South Carolina, where he grew to manhood and married Mary Stone. She was born in South Carolina but was of Irish parentage. The father was in the war of 1812, after which in 1816 he removed to Kentucky, where he remained until 1824 at which time he removed to Illinois and settled in Gallatin county. In the last named county, and in White county, he spent the remainder of his life. From White county he went to the Black Hawk war serving until its close. He died in White county.

The First Tannery.

David Wright, 4th, came from New Jersey to Wayne county in 1819, and settled and improved the farm three miles south of Fairfield. He started the first tan-yard in the county using a wooden trough, which in time he increased to fourteen vats, in which he did an extensive business for those days—tanning all kinds of hides, even hog skins. The largest Institute ever held in Wayne county will soon be a thing of the past. One hundred and fifty teachers have spent six weeks pleasantly together. Not a word has been uttered that would create an unpleasant feeling. Our Superintendent has labored hard to bring out the desired result by giving us all the advantages that it was best for us to have, and by employing the best instructors that could possibly be procured. Now, fellow teachers, (we mean the ladies, too,) let us profit by the lessons we have learned during this school. Let us, like the poet who on being twitted on account of his diminutiveness of stature, stepped forward and replied:

"Though I could reach from pole to pole,
And grasp creation in my hand,
Yet man is measured by his soul,
The mind's the standard of the man."

Let us not be satisfied with just being able to procure a situation and keeping school the appointed number of months, but let us realize the fact stated in the verse given above and make the schools of '85 and '86 the most successful ever taught in Wayne county. STUDENTS.

The First Tannery.

David Wright, 4th, came from New Jersey to Wayne county in 1819, and settled and improved the farm three miles south of Fairfield. He started the first tan-yard in the county using a wooden trough, which in time he increased to fourteen vats, in which he did an extensive business for those days—tanning all kinds of hides, even hog skins. The old family bible now in the possession of Charles W. Wright, is covered with fawn skin tanned in his tannery. He soon opened a store and also built a horse mill, each of which was about the first of its kind in the county. People came fifteen and twenty miles to his old mill on horse back, often camping to wait for their turn. The product of the mill was bolted by hand. D. W. Barkley, (founder of the Wayne County Press) a grandson, says he has both lively and painful recollections of assisting in this part of the business. At least he remembers it was not so agreeable as driving the horses and riding on the beam. Mr .Wright had his merchandise hauled from Shawneetown, Mt. Vernon, Indiana, and Evansville, and his produce was taken to Beach Bluff and Mill Shoals and shipped to New Orleans by flat-boat. This mostly consisted of vension hams, wild turkey, honey, deer, coon skins, etc., In those days, two-horse wagons, in which were to be seen teams in harness of which not a particle of iron was used—all home-made leather, shuck collars and hames cut from the root of a tree. When the family first came to the county, as did all others they pounded meal in a stump motar. The first meal from a mill was procured at Shawneetown, and until Mr. Wright's mill was put up, the nearest mill was at Carmi.

A Hardy Pioneer.

Mr. Wright was a fine specimen of the hardy, thrifty pioneer. His industry never flagged, and his energy was tireless—all of which were most admirable qualities in aiding and opening up and developing the new country. His other good qualities were only equaled by his widely known integrity, and a morality and uprightness that marked his whole life and drew around him an extended circle of warm friends.

His children were Thomas Curtis, Eliza Atkinson, (afterward Mrs. J. G. Barkley) David 5th, Sarah Ann (afterwards Mrs. Doctor R. L. Boggs), Charles William, now living three miles south of Fairfield (1884), on the place first improved by his father nearly sixty-five years ago.

David Wright, 4th, died March 14, 1865.

David Wright Barkley 2/82 Bust Stolen

The Press has learned that the bronze statue of the founder of the Wayne County Press, David Wright Barkley, was stolen last month from the Hall of Fame of the School of Journalism at the University of Illinois in Urbana.

According to the Illinois Publisher publication, three busts of famous journalists were taken from Gregory Hall and later found on a country road near Champaign-Urbana.

The busts were of Mr. Barkley, Harry Means Podell and Henry Wilson Clendenin. They were removed from their wooden pedestals by vandals and found by sheriff's deputies, damaged.

Three other incidents involving the busts have taken place in the past four years. All the stolen busts have been found usually in strange places.

Mr. Barkley was voted into the Hall of Fame for his courageous efforts as Press editor in Civil War days and later.

God hath not promised
skies always blue,
Flower-strewn pathways
all our lives through;
God hath not promised
sun without rain,
Joy without sorrow,
peace without pain.

But God hath promised strength for the day,
Rest for the labor,
light for the way,
Grace for the trials,
help from above,
Unfailing sympathy -- undying love.

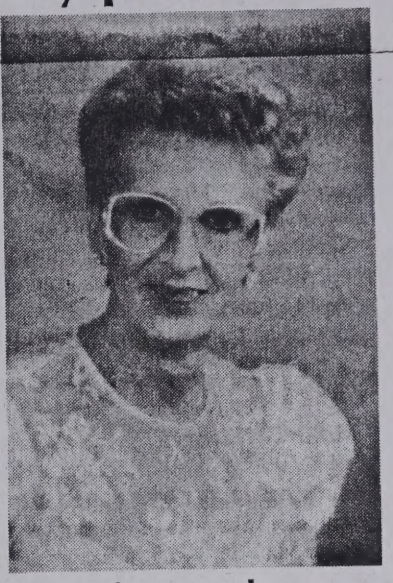
Atteberry installed [illegible] as Legion Auxiliary president

By ROB WICK
Of The Times Staff



Audrey Atteberry

Audrey Atteberry was officially installed Saturday as department president of the American Legion Auxiliary in Illinois.

The installation took place in Springfield.

Atteberry said she was thrilled to be installed at the state's top auxiliary officer, although she admitted to being a little bit nervous before the ceremony.

"If you had asked me Saturday morning, I might have had a different answer," Atteberry said after being asked if she was enjoying the attention.

As department president, Atteberry was called upon to designate a theme for her leadership. The theme she chose was "Reach for the brass ring as we ride the carousel of service to our veterans."

She has also chosen a special project, which will be getting the special equipment for special and physical therapy departments throughout veterans hospitals in the state.

Atteberry joined the Carmi Unit in September of 1966 through the eligibility of her husband, Bill, who served in the paratroopers during the Korean War.

Life membership was bestowed on her in 1981 by the unit. She has held all offices in the unit and is currently serving as treasurer.

She has also served as chairman for all committees during the past 30 years.

Atteberry served as president of the 24th district in 1973 and again 20 years later in 1993. After holding chairmanships of many committees for both district and division, she served as fifth division president in 1987-88.

She has also served in several department offices, including chairman for bowling, Gold Star, legislative, Americanism and national security.

She also served the department as assistant sergeant-at-arms and was a department page at the national convention.

Atteberry has served on the Illini Girls State staff in a variety of assignments, including recreation leader, staff advisor, shopping center and as Americanism instructor in 1995-96.

Elected to the office of Department Historian at the 1993 Convention, she has since held the offices of first and second vice president.

She and Bill reside in Carmi. They have two daughters, Vickie and Kim, and one son, Todd. She is the proud grandmother of Sarah, Amanda and Daniel. She loves to cook, sew and go fishing when she can find the time.

Trend favors weddings over divorces

More couples are tying the knot in White County these days than are un-tying it.

Through Thursday, the office of County Clerk Paula Dozier had issued 84 marriage licenses thus far this year, while 59 divorce cases had been filed in the office of Circuit Clerk Ellen Pettijohn.

More divorces were sought than marriage licenses granted in White County in the last two years. Last year, 129 cases for dissolution of marriage were filed, while only 128 marriage licenses were issued. And

I learn through the PRESS that another non-resident issue will be published and am going to address a letter to that department, hoping to hear something from my mother and father's people and possibly hear something of my old friends and relatives. My mother was born in Tennessee, her maiden name being Lydia Campbell; was married to Jas. Dorris, of Tennessee, and moved to Wayne county in an early day, Nathan Atteberry was a neighbor to my father and mother. I was married at the age of 15 to Elisha Atteberry, Nathan Atteberry's oldest son, reared a family of five children - three girls andtwo boys, of whom there living only two boys, Shanon and William J. Atteberry, and one girl. Matilda J. Brinley. All three are living here close to me.

Shanon, my oldest son, put up the first hotel in Clarendon, Texas, 17 years ago, which he still keeps. He also has a ranch several miles from here.

William J. Atteberry is a prosperous stock farmer, owning a ranch six miles from here.

Matilda J. Atteberry was married to William R. Brinley in 1875; has a family of eight children, four boys and four girls, of whom she is justly proud. Their two oldest sons, William Thomas and Allie Green Brinley are in Arizona in the employe of Southern Pacific R.R.

After the death of my first husband, I was married to Johnson Cates, of Mill Shoals, Ill.; had one child, a girl Fancy Cates by him who is grown now and married Harry Clifton. She has five children and live on a ranch 18 miles from here at Bray, Texas.

When I was left a widow by Cates I married J. W. Singleterry, of Wayne county, Ill. and then my wanderings began. We left Wayne county in 1871 for Texas; stopped at West Plains with my sister and brother-in- law David Harlan, who had left Wayne before we did, and from there we went on to Gainsville, Texas. David Harlan has an interest in some mines and lives at Shawnee, Okla. His two sons, J. A. and B. C. Harlan, are farming and have their home in Mountain View, Okla.

My brother, Wilkson Dorris, died 12 years ago. His family and Jack Bennett and family are living at Carthage, Mo. My brother's oldest son W. J. Dorris, has mining interests and his brother, Wesley Dorris has a gorcery store, They are all of the family I know anything about.

The PRESS just recieved; I stop writing to look it over; I see many names I am familiar with and some that I am personally acquainted with; it islike a welcome visitor to our home. In the issue of November 10th I read a letter from D.W. Barkley, which brought many recollections of the early days when we were children together and attended the same school with Dock Wingate as teacher. It brought many sad memories to mind as well as thoughts of my happy childhood days, I am now 69 years of age; have 22 grandchildren and five great grandchildren, and am glad to say we have all been very prosperous. It is a happy thought too me to know that when this earthly tabernacle dissolves, I have a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the Heavens. Prosperity and success to the PRESS and all the Wayne county wanderers.

Yours sincerely, of the law! As an aside, the Dalton Gang's other brothers were lawmen!!

Also, the farther I get into all these interrelated families, the more convinced I am that they knew each other, maybe even migrated together, long before we know they did. I have found Bains living near Linscotts, Bruners (my maiden name) living near Atteberrys, etc., etc. two hundred years ago when the nation was very small. I have the feeling that I'm probably married to my 20th cousin, ten times removed and that our ancestors are sitting up in Heaven saying, "See, Gertie, I told you in 1780 that so-and-so was a nice young man!"

Progress is excellent on all families in the works except for my great grandfather William P. Lauter, married to Livy Linscott, mother of Bertha who married Clyde Atteberry. He seems to have arrived on earth on day and disappeared the next, though he does appear in their wedding photo. How I would love to locate his family during Mother's lifetime. If the name ever turns up in any of your research, please let me hear. Meantime, it is such fun to learn more and more of the Atteberry history, and find new cousins!

Enclosing family sheets -- have plenty more info if you have any questions. Thanks again for your helpful and enthusiastic communication. Wouldn't our grandparents love all this???

Warmly,

Karlen

It was only when a posse almost arrested them that they learned they were actually working for the Dalton Gang and were rustling horses! This being a capitol crime in those days, and punishable by death, family tradition had this being the reason for Orley/Harry's name change. We did not know about the shooting or that poor man's hanging. But, knowing their association with the Daltons (whose hideout was, probably, in the NM foothills where Al and Harry also had a silver mine) makes his use of that hideout more understandable.

Either over the horse stealing or, perhaps, the shoot out, in yet another case of mistaken identity, Al Linscott was arrested in his brother's place and actually sent to prison. When found by Federal marshalls, Al was extremely sick with something like dyptheria, virtually comatose with fever for too many weeks to clear up the identity thing and woke up to find himself in a Federal prison -- in OK, we think. It was several months before he proved that he was not his brother, but he did prove it and was released with an admission of error. Considering what happened to the other guy, this story is even more remarkable!

The saga of Orley/Harry and Al goes on to the "disappearance" of their sister Livy's abusive second husband George Fuller. We did not know that the Linscott boys worked as carpenters. By 1992, when Fancy married Orley/Harry, he and Al had done a stint on the Cherokee reservation in OK as agents, and also had both worked as firemen on the railroad. Their sister Livy had married Lauter and had my grandmother; was widowed, married to Fuller, had a 2nd child named Charles, and was expecting her 3rd child when she became terminally ill.

During what must have been a remarkable week, her two brothers came down from OK, "dispatched" Fuller, saw Livy delivered of a sick baby, held her hand while she died (the baby soon after), buried both, and took Bertha and Charles (ages 4 and 2) with them back to Indian Territory. Fuller was never seen again. It is widely believed that the two brothers killed him and got their old RR buddies (Fuller was with the RR also) to dispose of his body -- or did it themselves in the firebox of the engine.

Descendents of friends and relatives seemed to know, but refused to tell Norman Clifton years ago or, more recently, Cheryl Stubenrauch who is George Fuller's gr gr grandaughter. Which sort of confirms the story that the Linscott brothers did something to him. I may have some of the speculation garbled; Cheryl knows it well. She also knows a great deal about Harry and Fancy's life -- and about Al as well. Despite their rocky, racy younger years, both were known in later life for gentle, kind, respectable traits -- both worked one way or another on the right side mentioning that he, William, and Matilda wanted to be sure someone knew that some family still lived. With the overall size of the family at that time, I find it interesting that others weren't mentioned too. I would love to be in touch with the people in Fort Wayne.

- Claudia Margaret Atteberry, whose picture you sent, was actually Mary Angeline's grandaughter, not her niece as you thought. She was daughter of Shannon and Adeline (the woman in the other picture), my grandfather's sister, and the name-sake of my mother Claudia. She married Robert Lee Biggers, whose descendents live in or near Clarendon today. My oldest aunt was named Adeline after their grandmother Rebecca Adeline Phillips Atteberry.

- Thanks for your 2nd letter with order forms for the histories. I will order for sure.

- Delighted to learn about other cousins with whom you correspond. Thanks for addresses

- I do have family sheets for Nathan's children, info found in Voncille Winter's book. Unless there were errors, I'm in good (but not current) shape there.

- Will enclose family group sheets for all references above to clarify. Some have personal info that may be of interest to you.

Probably the most exciting thing in your packet was the answer to the mystery about Orley Aldo Linscott aka Harry Clifton!! We knew the story about a crime being involved, but not the details, and with Linscotts as well as Atteberrys involved, it has been a matter of enormous curiosity for generations. You see, not only did Orley marry into the Atteberry clan via Fancy Cates, but his niece Bertha (dau of Liva Linscott and Wm. P. Lauter) married Clyde Atteberry -- and were my maternal grandparents. The Linscott boys' saga is also an interesting bit of history, so I'll add it herewith.

Their father was Francis Linscott, a fire-and-brimstone circuit preacher/farmer (also nephew of Jay Gould, the RR tycoon and robber baron) whose wife Nancy died when Orley and Al were about 17 and 15, and their sister Livy was 12. (Other ch also, but not part of the story) For some reason no one knows, the family was in Sherman, TX at the time -- and the two boys ran away soon or immediately after. They very proudly obtained work as part of what they believed was the crew of a ranch, rounding up and driving horses.

Dear Bernice,

Your wonderful letter and packet arrived just as we were leaving for a 5-day trip. It was all I could do not to call a Chicago cousin immediately, but did wait until our return and taking care of responsibilities this week. She is Cheryl Stubenrauch, related through the Linscott line, and she was excited at this new Atteberry connection. As you probably observed, there is a double connection between the Atteberrys and Linscotts. The anecdote you included about Fancy Cates actually provided the answer to a mystery -- but more about that later.

I was thrilled with all the photos and copies! I am trying to put together some sort of notebooks with all this "stuff" for my mother and aunt while they are still able to enjoy the information, and would love to have anything else you have. There is a great reproduction company here, so I could easily have photographic copies done for everyone if you have originals of anything pertinent. My only living aunt is 83 and her sister, my mother, is 76 and just broke her hip about 10 days ago. They keep reminding me that, for their benefit, time is limited.

Answering questions and/or commenting on things mentioned in your letter:

- The Atteberry Hotel - begun by Shannon's father-in-law John C. Phillips (fa of Rebecca Adeline, whose picture you included), the hotel building still existed when I a teenager and visited Clarendon with Mother. I am not sure if it still stands. It and the family are prominently mentioned in the history of Donley County.

  There is at least one Atteberry descendent still in Clarendon, but by two generations of other surnames.

- Appreciate your checking on Henry and Martha because of sisters-marrying-brothers relationship. Mary Angeline Dorris Atteberry Cates Singleterry ("Grandma Singleterry") was old when my mother was small, but active enough to be important to all the cousins. I know they would want to know what we can learn about Henry and Martha.

- Mattie Atteberry Wright was one of only two relatives whose existence Shannon passed on to his family. There is a small note in material from another cousin

...Cates,Joseph b. 1844. Joseph was blind. It is believed he was born blind. Joseph was shown age 16 in the 1860 census but was not listed at his father's home in the 1870 census.

...Cates, Christina b. 1845. We have no particular interest in tracing Christina but we can't help being curious as to what happened to her. Our curiosity stems from the fact that she was the first wife of Moses Goodwin Puckett (our grandfather). We have to assume the marriage ended in divorce since we have information that she later married a man named Farmer. In the History of White County Illinois p. 657 , the biographical sketch on Pleasant J. Puckett states that his son Moses was first married to Christina Cates, who died...but two different sources have informed us that she remarried.

...Cates, Elizabeth b. 1849. Called "Libby" - married a man by the name of Greenwood.

...Cates, Johnson Jr. b. 1850-d. 1906. We feel sure that Johnson Cates Jr. had a family but we found no record.

These then were the ten children of Elizabeth and Johnson Cates. They had been married about 35 years when Elizabeth died.

Johnson Cates was about 59 years old when he married his second wife, Mary Angelina (Dorris) Atteberry who had four children from her previous marriage. Mary Angelina was born about 1830 so was about 25 years younger than Johnson.

The Story of Fancy Cates & Orley Aldo Linscott

Mary and Johnson Cates had two children Fancy and Loucinda.

...Cates, Fancy b. 11 Oct 1866. Loucinda b. 1871 d. 1871

Johnson Cates was 61 years old when Fancy was born...he died four years later at the age of 65.

It was rumored that Johnson Cates had buried a great deal of gold on his farm and for many years after his death relatives and even strangers were often found digging, trying to find it. It was thought he had buried it near where he is now buried - no gold was ever found.

The Johnson Cates Cemetery is on his old home place...the house is gone and the land is now owned by the Robinson family, but the cemetery is there. Many of the markers are half sunk into the ground...members of both the Johnson family and Cates family are buried there.

The story about Johnson Cates family would be incomplete without telling more about his youngest child Fancy Cates. The story of Fancy is more about the man she married than about her, so we have to start our story with the tale of Orley Aldo Linscott.

Orley Aldo Linscott and his brother ran away from their home in Oklahoma when they were about 11 and 12 years old. They headed for the Texas panhandle and somewhere in their travels they were taken in by the Dalton brothers. The two Linscott brothers grew up, living and riding with the Dalton Gang.

Meantime, Fancy Cates' mother Mary Angelina (Dorris) Atteberry Cates Singleterry had moved to Texas and Fancy was living there with her mother when she met Orley Aldo Linscott. Orley Aldo was completely smitten with the charming redheaded Fancy Cates and started courting her.

Not long after Orley Aldo met Fancy he got into a shoot-out and killed a man -- thereby setting himself up as a man"Wanted Dead or Alive" by the Law.

Orley Aldo and his brother spent several months hiding from the law. They were in a cabin in one of the Dalton's out-of-the-way hideouts in the hills and had no contact with anyone. After a few months Orley Aldo was desparate to get word to Fancy.

One day a stranger came riding up to their cabin asking to water his horse. After Orley Aldo decided it was safe to trust this stranger, he asked him to post a letter for him from the next town -- the stranger agreed to do it, not knowing who Orley was or that he was a wanted man.

The stranger took the letter into the Trading Post at the next small town (probably a great distance from the hideout) and handed the letter to the clerk. The clerk noticing the name of Orley Aldo Linscott on the return address and eyeing the"wanted" poster on the wall, managed to hold the stranger there while someone went for the Sheriff.

The stranger kept telling the Sheriff that he was not Linscott but the Sheriff with only a vague description and the name of Orley Aldo Linscott wasn't going to let this criminal get away.

We may not have all the details exactly right but we know this is a true story, verified in news accounts and other records, and that this perfectly innocent stranger was hanged and buried as Orley Aldo Linscott.

Orley upon hearing from members of the Dalton Gang, what had happened,decided he could not undo what was done, and now that he was no longer a "wanted" man, he was free to contact Fancy... this time in person and not by mail.

It was necessary for Orley Aldo to change his name so he took the name of Harry Clifton. The real Harry Clifton had been the camp cook for the Daltons and was no longer living.

On the 25th of September 1892 Harry Clifton and Fancy Cates were married. Harry Clifton and his brother who kept his own name of Linscott became carpenters and lived the rest of their lives close to each other, one as Linscott and one as Clifton.

The foregoing bit of Cates history is from the records of Norman Clifton, grandson of Fancy(Cates) Clifton and (Orley Aldo Linscott) Harry Clifton. Norman and his family live in Fremont, California.

Fancy Cates lived to be 84 year old...she died in El Paso, Texas 22 July 1950

YOUNG MOVIE STAR'S GRANDFATHER LOCATED

Bethany Janitor Gets Letter Telling Him of Relationship to Mitzi Green. By Staff Correspondent.

Bethany -- D. W. Atteberry, janitor of the Bethany grade school has just learned that he is no ordinary grandparent.

A letter from Mrs. Lyle McLaughlin of Pasedena, California, to her sister, Mrs. Robert Logan of this place, revealed him to be the grandfather of Mitzi Green, juvenile screen star. Mrs. McLaughlin, on a chance meeting with Mr. Atteberry's only son, 51 year-old Irvin, learned that he was the father of Mitzi Green by his fourth wife.

Irvin had left Bethany at the age of 16, living for a while in Indianapolis before moving to California. His father has received no communication from him during the last 10 years.

Mr. Atteberry is quite excited about the announcement and has no doubt as to its authenticity. Only a day before, he and his wife had gone to Sullivan to see his believed grandaughter in "Little Orphan Annie."

"See," he said as he brought forth an old portrait, "you can recognize her even at the early age of five."

The Miracle Continues 1944 1984

August, 1984

Dear Friends:

Have you ever noticed how events that you have scheduled way ahead in the future have a way of sneaking up on you? Well, that's the way it is with our sharing dinners. Though they're scheduled for October, they are really just around the corner. By now you've guessed that this letter is about our annual Report To The People Sharing Dinners.

As the program at Youth for Christ has grown over the last several years, so has our need to become more and more effective in getting people together at our sharing dinners to hear the Youth for Christ story. The best means we have found of doing this is getting people to be table hosts and inviting their friends. Our goal is to have over 400 people at our sharing dinner in Wells County - October 29. In order for this to happen we need to enlist 50 table hosts.

This year's dinner not only holds its usual strategic importance but this is our 40th Anniversary of the founding of Youth for Christ. In order to enable us to meet our goals, we're holding an areawide dessert reception for all of our table hosts as we did last year. The dessert reception is being held September 10 at the Fort Wayne Marriott starting at 7:00 p.m. This reception is being underwritten so you and your spouse can be our guest. Here's what the reception is designed to do:

1 - To thank you for your past, present, and future involvement in Youth for Christ.
2 - To acquaint you with the exciting new developments in Youth for Christ.
3 - To give you in capsule form an idea of what the program is going to be like at your sharing dinner.
4 - To allow you the chance to enjoy our musical guest, Pete Carlson, who also will be the special musical guest at your dinner in October.
5 - To that evening provide you with everything you need to be a table host.
6 - To send you away with a renewed enthusiasm for what God is doing in reaching young people through Youth for Christ.

I need your help. Come join Tim and the rest of the Youth for Christ staff as "The Miracle Continues" September 10, 1984, Fort Wayne Marriott 7:00 p.m. Return your card and join us. We need to hear from you by August 22. God bless you.

MERLIN WOMAN RECALLS 2 MONTH SNOW STORM - Winters in the Rogue valley have not always been as free from snow as they have in recent years, declares Mrs. Mary Jane Tyler, of Merlin.

One winter in the 80s, the exact year has been forgotten, snow started falling in the valley just before Christmas and every day until February 14, it continued. The snow piled up and it was impossible to see out of windows. In shoveling paths through the snow, piles on the sides became higher than a man's head. It was the worst snow remembered by Mrs. Tyler in her 55 years in southern Oregon.

Mrs. Tyler was born in 1872 and lived for eight years close to Galesville in Douglas county.
In 1880, her father, Hiram Simpkins, homesteaded the place now known as the Twohy farm near Hell Gate. (newspaper clipping no paper or date given)

MERLIN - Mrs. J. M. Mason, of Myrtle Creek, who was a resident of Merlin until a year ago, is spending the week at the home of her mother, Mrs. Tyler, and renewing the acquaintance of her many friends here. (Daily Rogue River Courier, Grants Pass, Josephine Co., Oregon, 02Apr1916, pg2)

MARY J. TYLER, 86, PASSES IN SALEM - Funeral services for Mary Jane Tyler, 86, of Merlin, who died at Salem Saturday evening, will be held at the Merlin church at 11 a.m. Tuesday with interment in the Pleasant Valley cemetery. Rev. W. R. Lambkin of Murphy will officiate, and the Hull and Hyull funeral parlors will have charge.

Mrs. Tyler is survived by two sons, H. B. Attebery of Chico, Cal., and Asa F. Tyler of Merlin; and by one daughter, Mrs. Kate Mason of Milwaukie, Ore.

She was born October 27, 1847. In 1880 her father, Hiram Sim;kins homesteaded the place now known as the Twohy farm near Hellgate.

The body will arrive here on the morning train Tuesday. (Grants Pass Daily Courier, Grants Pass, Josephine Co., Oregon, 17Sep1934, pg3)

From the April 3, 1935 Golden Anniversary Edition of the Daily Grants Pass Courier. It concerns a person by the name of Asa Tyler of Merlin, Oregon.

NURSES WENT MILES BY HORSES - The trials and dangers met by a pioneer nurse, who traveled miles on horseback all over Josephine county to administer aid were told by Asa F. Tyler of Merlin.

Tyler's mother came here from Knoxville Ill., in 1872 with her parents, Hiram and Katherine Simkins. During the years Mrs. Tyler was a nurse she would ride 50 and 60 miles at a time to outlying points of Southern Oregon to nurse some person.

"The lack of bridges over streams and the occasional appearance of an unfriendly Indian apparently did not bother her at all", said Tyler. Asa Tyler was born on Rogue River May 3, 1889, in the Merlin district. He still lives at Merlin. (The story appeared in the November 2, 1934 Courier)

SUDDEN DEATH OF OF LITTLE GIRL

Miss Eva V. Atterbury, aged fifteen years, died at an early hour Monday morning at the residence of her parents Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Atterbury, at the corner of First and Locust streets, Chapmantown. The deceased had been for several weeks suffering with what was believed to be an attack of typhoid fever, but had within the past few days apparently recovered. Early Monday morning she became suddenly seriously ill and expired before a physician could be summoned. Dr. Browning, who conducted the autopsy, decided that death was due to typhoid fever.

The funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the First Methodist Episcopal church at the corner of Fourth and Salem streets. The following schoolmates of the deceased will be the pallbearers: D. L. McCully, Edward Leuterio, William Knott, Claude Stubbs, Percival Thomas, and Harry Satterlee.
